"I would remind everyone you really can do anything you set your mind to. Also, most of the problems you think you are overwhelming are actually very small things in the grand scheme of life."

Krys Reheld, Shreve

"God has given you a talent and what you like to do is something that you are good at doing. If you have a passion and something you like more than experience or skill, I think someone recognizing that passion; they will work hard to get you into the right spot with the talent that you really have."
